

Technical parts

Even if we are specialized in the O-rings creation, we can project and produce technique details.

The kind of mills that we use in our construction department moulds allows us to create moulds for techniques details with limited shapes.

Frames, shaped links, washers, are just some examples of the techniques details that we produce.

Our group allows us to base on productive abilities of many companies. Technique details with metallic or plastic parts, membranes, holding links, trimmings, etc, can be produced using the other firms' experience belonging to our group.
